

As police agencies are now reporting through NIBRS (National Incident Based Reporting System) you could see what appears to be a small increase (0-2%) in crime. This is most likely more accurate counting, and this is a good thing. An example for comparison: An incident involves murder, robbery and motor vehicle theft. Under Summary Reporting Systems Hierarchy Rule, when more than one offense occurred within an incident only the most serious crime – in this example, the murder – was counted. When the same incident is reported through NIBRS, the murder, robbery, and motor vehicle theft will all be counted.

FBI analysis of 2014 data found that about one in 10 incidents included crimes that went uncounted because of the Hierarchy Rule. The more accurate NIBRS tally better represents the work our teams do, the investigative costs we incur, the impact on crime victims, and the demand on victim resources in our community.

Finally, as you know, 2020 was a challenging and unique year so comparisons may also look different from previous years.
